Much Publicized "Battle For Berlin" Turns Out To Be Just Another "Communist" Parade

Berlin, May 28—(AP)—The much-publicized "battle for Berlin" ended yesterday to be just another big Communist parade—not a threatened putsch the west had girded itself to meet.

The demonstration, which recalled days of Hitlerite goose-stepping, had its significant undertones, however.

The west proved itself ready to meet any Red putsch and not be moved out of the city by Soviet threats.

The east proved it had laid the groundwork for an automaton state in east Germany, firmly in the Communist grip; by pouring out a half million youths to pay homage to Soviet Russia.

Speakers for both sides were claiming victories. But there was none—only a deadlock until the next Berlin crisis.

There was no Communist storming of the west sectors, as first threatened last February.

Neither was the Red outpouring in the east sector any flabby affair.

Up in the Wilhelmstrasse, past the rubble that marks the end of Hitler's Reich, into Unter Den Linden where the Kaiser's legions and later the Nazi hordes used to march, came the blue-shirted youths by the tens of thousands.

Hour after hour they marched, through rain and sun, chanting hymns of hate against the west and praise for Communist Russia.

Sandwiched in with the marching youngsters were 10,000 members of the east zone police force, which western officials claim is the nucleus of an east German army.

Tanned, rugged and obviously army-disciplined in their dark blue uniforms and black jackboots, they looked much like the Wehrmacht forces of a few years ago.

The "marchers" would burst into a frenzy of cheering as they passed the reviewing stand, where German and Russian Communist leaders stood.

The banners ridiculed everything from American chewing gum to American magazines. They attacked "Anglo-American Imperialism" and hailed German "heroes" in the Soviet zone uranium mines.

The Air Force veteran rang a bell for the length of the Oakland round airfield for half an hour waving his weapon.

Terrified passengers cringed. The woman fainted and fell to the lane's floor. He let her lie there.

His reign of terror ended when he plane made an emergency landing here. Deputy sheriffs arrested him off to the county psychopathic ward.

His German war bride, Magdalene, 22, waited around and apologized to the passengers and plane crew after the incident.

The dramatic incident occurred on a flight from southern California to Oakland.

Half an hour out of Fresno, O'Reilly, an Air Force veteran, began acting strangely.

Dean Blair, broad jumper of the Warren High School track squad, made a jump of 21 feet 10 inches, his best legal jump ever, to place 10th at the State track meet at State College Saturday.

The Dragons' contestant in the high jump, Bob Simpson, placed in a three-way tie for fifth place with a jump of five feet 10 inches.

John Watt, a miler, placed 11th in a group of 20. Coach Hutchings said John did quite well as he was running against a sizzling 4:31.4.

All three of the Blue and White contestants were entered in the meet as a result of the District 10 meet in Erie, in which they all placed second.

Blair, who won fourth in the broad jump at State last year, has had jumps of over 22 feet in the event both seasons, but the jumps were ruled out on fouls.

WEEKEND FIRE

Gresham, May 29—(AP)—A weekend fire caused $12,000 damage at the Royal Order of Moose quarters, and routed three families on upper floors of the building.

Moose Governor Jack Hochberg said the blaze apparently started in the bar on the ground floor.

Senators to Try This Week to Catch Up With House On Pressing Legislation

Washington, May 29—(AP)—Senators will try this week to catch up with the house on law-making but the outlook for much progress was gloomy.

While house members were enjoying a 10-day vacation they could spend campaigning for reelection, senators could see only a long series of arguments ahead.

The pending business in the senate is the controversial "basing point" price bill to legalize uniform delivered prices and prohibit anti-trust prosecutions in certain cases involving freight cost absorption.

A vote on that—after two previous senate rejections—appeared uncertain but may come later this week. Democratic Leader Lucas of Illinois is threatening night sessions Thursday and Friday to get the work along.

Stacked up awaiting senate action are two other measures that breezed through the house weeks ago.

1. A bill granting the farm price support agency another $2,000,000 of funds.

2. A vast expansion of the social security program.

Other measures that have cleared the house were promised attention of senate committees during the week.

He is married and has two girls, aged six and nine. He plans to move his family to Warren some time in August.

He has been active in the community life of Ellwood City, is program chairman of the Rotary Club and teacher of a Sunday school class.

CLAIM REDS IN COMMERCE DEPARTMENT

Secretary of Commerce Sawyer In Middle of Swirling Controversy

SHARP NEW CLASHES

Washington, May 29—(AP)—Fast-breaking weekend developments brought to a new boil today the congressional furor over charges that Communists and Communist sympathizers are working for the government.

In the center of the storm stood Secretary of Commerce Sawyer, whose requests for the resignation of two trade officials accused of being security risks—Michael E. Lee and William W. Remington—were flatly rejected by both men on grounds that they could not quit under fire. Sawyer said he was not questioning the loyalty of the two men.

There were sharp new clashes, too, between senate Republicans and the Truman administration over the Communists-in-government issue.

The State Department fired a fresh blast at Senator McCarthy (R-Wis) yesterday, saying he is trying to divert attention from his charges that the department harbors Reds because he "has utterly failed to prove there is a single Communist or pro-Communist" in the agency.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) jumped into the fray yesterday with the comment that the Democratic-controlled senate committee looking into McCarthy's charges hasn't done its job properly.

At Omaha, Neb., Attorney General McGrath compared McCarthy's tactics to those of Hitler's gestapo, in a speech striking out at "witch hunts and frantic name-calling."

McCarthy reported: "The American people should be disturbed by the fact that each time the congress tries to dig out Communists, the Justice Department screams loudly."

The Commerce Department move to oust Remington and Lee was announced Saturday.

KILLED AT PLAY

Instruction and Curriculum Director Is Named for Warren Borough Schools

Announced here over the weekend was the recommendation of the school board committee on teachers that Gerald M. Newton, principal of Ellwood City High School, be elected to the post of director of instruction and curriculum for the Warren school district.

Official confirmation of his selection is expected at the next meeting of school board, set for June 26th.

Returning to a practice established in 1947, when an assistant superintendent was employed to direct the instruction and curriculum development of borough schools, the board, after careful consideration, has decided to name the position "director of instruction and curriculum."

Born in Lawrence county, Mr. Newton is a graduate of New Wilmington High School and Westminster College. He holds a master's degree from the University of Pittsburgh and has completed most of his work leading to a doctorate from there. He has taught in the schools of Pitcairn and Ellwood City.

During World War II he was an officer in the Navy, having charge of a school in Chicago, and was separated from the Navy as a lieutenant. At the time he entered the service, he was in charge of guidance in the Ellwood City High School. Since his service in the Navy he has lectured for the psychology department of the University of Pittsburgh and been the principal of the high school in Ellwood City.

Mr. Newton has been interested in many activities during his school life. In college he sang in the choir and quartet, was president of his class and the student government council and played varsity basketball. During his teaching career he has done considerable varsity basketball coaching.

The state bonus bureau reminded eligible ex-servicemen over the weekend that applications must be in by July 1 to qualify for payments of up to $500.

The same reminder went to relatives and friends of mentally or physically incapacitated veterans unable to fill out bonus applications for themselves.

TALK-OF-MONTH SPEAKERS

The Warren Talk of the Month Club announced over the weekend its choice of speakers for next season and prospects for the fall membership campaign. Those selected are Lowell Thomas, Jr., who will present an illustrated lecture on his trip to Tibet; Senator Styles Bridges of Vermont, speaking on conditions in Europe; Dr. Paul Giddens, Allegheny College, whose lecture will deal with the oil industry in the Near East. Admission to the lectures is by membership only and those holding current memberships will be given preference in renewals.

Grateful Nation Plans To Pause Tuesday To Pay Solemn Tribute to Warrior Dead

Observance at Arlington Will Be Featured With Address By General of Army Marshall

By The Associated Press

Americans, worried over the dangers of the cold war and praying and working to prevent a third world conflict, will pause tomorrow to pay tribute to their warrior dead.

At solemn services the living will rededicate themselves to the task of keeping the peace achieved by the sacrifices of the dead.

A grateful nation will pay floral and vocal tribute on Memorial Day at cemeteries at home and abroad where American servicemen lie.

Ceremonies will range from the tomb of the unknown soldier in Washington to modest graves in tiny hamlets of the nation and in foreign lands where Americans fell.

Marching millions and the massing of battle flags will exemplify the theme that, once again on Memorial Day, Americans are "united for peace."

A five-hour observance at the Arlington (Va.) National Cemetery will feature an address by general of the army, George C. Marshall.

A White House army aide, Capt. Adam Eisenhower will place wreaths from President Truman on the tomb of the unknown soldier of World War I and at the monuments to the Union and the confederate dead of the Civil War.

Memorial services and exercises were held in many cities yesterday in advance of the holiday.

Mr. Truman will spend the holiday cruising the Potomac river and Chesapeake Bay aboard the presidential yacht Williamsburg.

Appropriate Exercises Are Arranged For Warren Area Over Decoration Day

The Warren area will pay fitting tribute to its war dead with a Memorial Day parade and services at Oakland cemetery tomorrow.

The parade, will form at 9:30 a. m. in Fourth avenue and will move at 10 a. m. over the following route:

South on Market street to Pennsylvania avenue, west, thence west on Pennsylvania avenue to Hickory street, then across the Hickory street bridge to Oakland cemetery.

After Memorial exercises at the speakers platform near the cemetery entrance, the parade will re-form and proceed to the G.A.R. circle in the cemetery for additional services. The parade will then return across Hickory street bridge where the marshal and his staff will make the official review. Official parade orders appear on Page 3 of today's Times-Mirror.

The Memorial Day address will be given by the Rev. Robert S. Steen, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Warren. Representatives of various local veterans organizations also will participate in the services. In event of rain, the services will be held at the courthouse.

Many other activities also are scheduled in the Warren area tomorrow in addition to the parade and Memorial services.

Members of the Warren Council, Knights of Columbus, will meet at the K. of C. hall tomorrow morning at 8:30 o'clock, and will then go to St. Joseph's cemetery for a Field Mass.

The National Forge baseball team will battle the St. Marys Oilers at the State Hospital field, with the contest to get under way at 2:30 o'clock.

A special Decoration Day show, starting at 1:30 o'clock, is planned for the V.F.W. and Hot Stove League festival, featuring the Carl D. Ferris shows at the old brewery show grounds on the south side.

A mixed teams golf tournament for the Horace Cray trophy is planned for the afternoon at the Conewango Valley Country Club.

Stores and public offices will be closed, and there will be no edition of the Times-Mirror. State Liquor stores also will be closed, but taprooms will remain open.

Because of the closing of the stores tomorrow, local businesses predicted that at least 280 persons will have been killed in traffic accidents alone during the holiday period. It expected 30,000,000 automobiles to be on the highways.

The deaths by states, listed by causes—Traffic, drowning and miscellaneous: Maryland 1-2-0, New Jersey 5-2-1, New York 5-6-0, Ohio 6-1-2, Pennsylvania 5-1-1, West Virginia 4-0-0.

Inquiry Into Mysterious Shooting Of Corry Banker Takes An Unusual Turn

Investigation into the mysterious shooting of H. Harrison Keppel, 57-year-old Corry banker, took an unusual turn over the weekend when a 15-year-old boy said he fired the shots because he mistook the banker for a potato thief.

The boy, Charles Camp, Jr., of the Cole Hill area, voluntarily told his story to H. Martin Keppel, 28, of Corry, son of the shooting victim, and then came to Warren in company with his father to repeat his story to Sheriff L. E. Linder and State Police.

It was reported today that the youth had been questioned Saturday and again yesterday, and that he stuck steadfastly to the same story that he first told to the banker's son.

The youth said he and the hired man were the only ones at the farm at the time the shooting occurred. The boy said he noticed car lights blinking near Camp's potato storage house and thought someone was trying to steal potatoes from the shed.

He said he grabbed a 30-30 deer rifle and fired three shots into the air, and then aimed two shots at the tires of the car when the driver backed into a driveway to turn around and then drove off.

Two shots struck the rear of the car, the one penetrating both the rear and front seats of the sedan and striking Keppel in the right hip. Slivers from the bullet slug, sheared off when it struck a spring in the front seat, also struck him in the nape of the neck, causing gash wounds. The second shot also penetrated both seats, but missed the driver.

Following the shooting, Keppel drove to the Garland Inn, where he stopped briefly, asking for medical aid, and then left. He was found a short time later, slumped over the wheel, about a mile from the inn and was taken to the Corry hospital. Doctors removed the bullet slug Friday, and the injured man's condition is reported as improving.

Ballistic tests will be made to compare the two bullet slugs—one removed from Keppel and the other found inside the car—with slugs from a rifle found by officers at the Camp farm.

The youth has been remanded to the custody of his parents, and no charges have been preferred against him. Officers are continuing the investigation.

Erie Bookmobile Is To Make a Tour Of Warren Co. Soon

Beginning June 5, the Erie County Bookmobile will make a tour of Warren county. The schedule of dates for communities and schools in the county-wide tour will be published in the Thursday edition of the Warren Times-Mirror. Miss Marian Kelly, Bookmobile librarian, hopes to take the mobile library to at least eight schools a day during her week's stay in Warren county.
The Bookmobile will also be stationed in the center of communities to give citizens an opportunity to examine the traveling library and to ask questions about county library service. There will be at least one member of the Friends of the Warren County Library on the book truck during the entire tour.
Because of the mounting interest in the county Bookmobile library, the friends of the Warren County Library is preparing a circular to be available early in June. This six page illustrated pamphlet contains the answers to the many questions which have been presented in the community meetings which have been held throughout the county.
The Bookmobile committee has also secured two excellent sound motion picture films from the American Library Association through the State Library at Harrisburg. These films were shown for the first time in Warren County last week at the Tidoute county Bookmobile meeting. They were also shown at Irvinedale school. Organizations interested in seeing how a library on wheels operates to extend service and opportunities to people of all ages and situations may borrow the films from the Friends of the Warren County Library, president, Mrs. Gerry Archibald.

The Changing Landscapes

HAROLD W. GEIGER
Soil Conservation Service

Hello, everybody. While lots of folks are busy keeping tabs on the local "detours", Warren County farmers are becoming more concerned with their farm "contours".
Ralph G. Eckert, Soil Conservation Service farm planner, spent a busy day with William Wilson up on the Hill at Scandia helping Bill prepare his complete soil conservation farm plan. Ralph also helped the Wilcox brothers, Lloyd and Evan, near Akeley, to complete their conservation plan. A diversion terrace and a farm pond are their projects for this summer. The water will be piped directly from the pond to the barn for livestock use.
George and Ed Wilcox, on a neighboring farm, began building two drainage terraces this week. They are using their own tractor and two-bottom plow to construct the terraces.
John McSorley and Jack Decker, Soil Conservation Service technicians have been busy in the western half of the county. They helped John Volk, Columbus farmer, to complete making his farm conservation plan. Mr. Volk's problems include better pasture and drainage.

Martin Yucha, Pittsfield farmer, finished making his conservation plan with McSorley's help last week. His plans include loss of grass farming, particularly where the Brokenstraw Creek floods over his farm.

Francis Thompson, farmer from Sugar Grove, finished his conservation plan on Tuesday with McSorley's help. Francis also plans to retire some of his cropland to grass crops. He also plans to seed some very wet pasture to reed canary grass, a crop well adapted to excessive water conditions.

Bob Scott, SCS engineer, has finished making the design and last minute arrangements for the half acre farm pond in George Walkers, along the Big Four road. George plans to use his own bulldozer to build the pond. Construction is planned to start next week.

The trend of many local farmers towards grass farming is quite a change in the thinking from the days of extensive grain farming. The late spring, with its cool, wet weather, has put the grass farmers ahead of those planning to plant corn or small grain. Good grasses, used for pasture, hay and silage, which are fertilized properly and cut at the right time, have proved to be the best and cheapest feed available. At the same time erosion dangers are practically non-existent on a field kept in permanent sod. This trend towards grass is showing up not only in Warren County, but over most of the Northeastern States.

FIXING BLAME FOR CHINA'S FALL

It isn't easy for any of us to thread our way through the maze of charges leveled against the State Department in the past three months. But still we have to try.

Much of the criticism hinges on the fact that China fell to the Communists. It seems to be assumed that the United States could have prevented the defeat of Chiang Kai-Shek's government had it pursued a wiser foreign policy.

From there the jump is short to the conclusion that the State Department is to blame for this disastrous outcome. The final step is the claim that Communists infiltrating or influencing the department deliberately engineered Chiang's downfall.

Could this country really have saved Chiang?

General Marshall, who was secretary of State when the decision was made to abandon him, denies that it was possible except at great cost and at risk of war. He declares furthermore, that no Communist influenced his decision to give up on Chiang.

Now we have some similar testimony from George Kennan, department counselor now on leave. He is not an unprejudiced witness, any more than is Marshall, but Kennan is acknowledged to be a thoughtful man with a deep understanding of Communism.

Kennan insists that Chiang was indeed a free agent. More than that, he says the generalissimo and his top men persistently failed to heed U. S. warnings that their early post-war course was leading toward disaster. The Nationalists, contends Kennan, only wanted to involve the U. S. so deeply that we would be forced to take over the major burden of responsibility.

We have Marshall's word that it came to that: either make China a virtual U. S. protectorate, or get out of that area completely.

Marshall chose to abandon Chiang because of the risk of war and because of our existing heavy commitments in Europe. He felt, in other words, that we couldn't save the whole world at once.

No critic has yet proved he was influenced in this decision by any Communist. Nor has anyone shown how we could have gone more deeply into China without incurring greater dangers than we now face from the Reds' sweep of that country.

If Marshall and Kennan are right, then Chiang in 1946-48 was beyond saving by any reasonable U. S. policy. What the average American must still settle for himself is whether more remote U. S. decisions had helped to send Chiang downhill to the point where his case was hopeless.

The alternative, of course, is that the Nationalists' defeat was not the specific result of U. S. policy failures—no matter how remote—but was the product of broad world currents whose power was too little understood by any of us.

Who foresaw, for example, how large Russian communism would in a world prostrated by war? Yet most of us approved the military events that gave the postwar world that shape.

Perhaps in the end we must all share responsibility for China's fall. In any case, the causes seem to lie well in the past. It will be hard to prove that the present stewards of our foreign policy are to blame.

NEW TOMB TO UNKNOWN SOLDIER

The tomb of the Unknown Soldier stands high above the Potomac on a grassy slope in Arlington National Cemetery. Inscribed on its clean white marble are these words: "Here rests in honored glory an American soldier known but to God."

Few memorials to our war dead catch so simply and nobly the spirit of dedication we feel toward our fallen sons. Unhappily too much sentiment, too much sculpture, too many words have often marred our memorials.

In a year or so, there'll be a new tomb to the Unknown Soldier of World War II. Already the complex task of selecting soldiers from half a dozen major war theaters is under way.

Every American must hope and pray that from beginning to end this labor is marked by the same elemental depth of feeling which guided the erection of the tomb honoring a fighting man of World War I.

The homage we pay to unknown men is a far deeper thing than it might seem at first. It is a way of saying that, to a free people like ourselves, all life is dear. No man, known or unknown, must go unhonored in this land when he has sacrificed himself in its defense.

That is why we do this. That is why the shining tomb in Arlington bears no scratch or flaw. That is why a soldier stands guard over the shrine 24 hours a day.

The tomb is the evidence in stone of America's faith in man—any man.

Here And There

One of the Times-Mirror strip cartoon features, appearing daily on the comic page, "Bugs Bunny," has been named box office champion for the sixth consecutive year. That means that movie exhibitors of the United States and Canada have again named Bugs Bunny the number one money maker among cartoons and other short subjects.

The Ferris Shows, which winter at Medina, N. Y., received the usual fine send-off from the Medina Daily Journal-Register, when it started the 1950 road tour. Attention was called to the fact that this marks the fifty-first time that the Ferris family have headed into the open spaces to furnish entertainment. The rides have been increased to ten and there are six full shows. Another ferris wheel has been added, and a new fly-plane is a new attraction for the youngsters. Marty Smith, general representative, says "We have a real outfit this year. Shows that will be entertaining to every member of the family, and don't forget we still maintain our statement of 'The cleanest midway in show business.' That is one promise that will always be fulfilled by the Ferris Shows. That is why we are always welcomed back in the same towns year after year."

After the untangling of considerable red tape resulting from an earlier contract in which another carnival almost succeeded in securing exclusive rights to show on the lot until the first week in July, the Ferris Shows secured permission to pitch tents on the old brewery grounds, where they will be welcoming old and new friends this week.

After the untangling of considerable red tape resulting from an earlier contract in which another carnival almost succeeded in securing exclusive rights to show on the lot until the first week in July, the Ferris Shows secured permission to pitch tents on the old brewery grounds, where they will be welcoming old and new friends this week.

This And That: Bert Rosenberger, general representative of the Dumont Shows, "a city of the youngsters. Marty Smith, general representative, says "We have a real outfit this year. Shows that will be entertaining to every member of the family, and don't forget we still maintain our statement of 'The cleanest midway in show business.' That is one promise that will always be fulfilled by the Ferris Shows. That is why we are always welcomed back in the same towns year after year."

While attending the reception at the Hotel Jamestown Friday evening following the opening of the new Dixon theater in that city, had the pleasure of enjoying an interesting chat with S. Valiant Americans

A THOUGHT FOR MEMORIAL DAY

The war veterans who will march on Memorial Day loved peace, but gave up the pursuits of peace, because they loved their country more.

It is the fervent wish of every American today that the future may ask no similar sacrifices of our sons, but we honor those brave ones, living and dead, who did have the courage and the patriotism to serve their country in times of need.

COLE HILL

A puppet show sponsored by the Garland PTA proved a fine entertainment for the students of the Garland school Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock. Two western folks, a man and a woman, dressed in western costumes, staged the show with jokes and music which will long be remembered by the children. Some of the children's parents were present for the entertainment.

Several of the farmers here observed Wednesday as a holiday, as the day was Ascension Day for the Catholic people.

"Fresh starts for sale!"

R. K. WETZEL YES MANAGER

My job is to make loans to local people. I like to say YES and do say YES to 4 out of 5 who come to me for a loan. Yet I can't help feeling that my most important job is getting people out of debt—selling fresh starts.

Take the young couple who came to see me only last week. The husband was making good money. Yet they couldn't seem to make ends meet. They wanted a loan of $50 until payday.

With their permission, I went over their income and expenses on a worksheet* my company has just published. In 10 minutes, we'd spotted the trouble. Their monthly installment payments were just too high. After meeting them, they didn't have enough money to handle their regular monthly expenses. I lent them the cash to pay these accounts in full. Now they're repaying Personal—in monthly amounts that fit their income. They are happy with their fresh start.

Now I don't claim a loan is always the answer to a money problem. When it is, I say "yes" promptly. You also get the benefit of my years of experience with family budgets. If you can use either money or this free counsel, don't hesitate to see me. Come in to the Personal Finance Co.—or phone, today.

*You can get this worksheet, "X-Ray Booklet" without cost or obligation. Simply come in, or send a postcard.

Song Recital By Teresa Fino Received With Great Enthusiasm By Audience

On Thursday evening at the Woman's Club, Miss Teresa Fino, soprano, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Fino, 224 Onondaga avenue, presented a delightful song recital.

Miss Fino has been a pupil at the Community Music School, Buffalo, where she studies with Miss Julia Mahoney.

In her first song, "Mi Laghero taendo" from "Siroe" by Handel, the young musician, completely at ease, captivated her audience with a gracious manner and effective control of a lovely natural voice. Especially pleasing was her interpretation of Mozart's beautiful "Voi che sapete".

In her second group, of Schumann compositions, the German language and the particular vocal range of the songs brought out a warm dark color in her voice which was particularly lovely. In two Scottish songs, "Somebody" and "Highland Widow's Lament" by Schumann, Miss Fino achieved a high degree of clarity in diction, beauty of tone, and most effective nuances.

Two songs by Barber, "Sure on this shining night" and "The Daisies", in the final group, were cleverly done. Appropriate facial expression, combined with unforced, unforced tone, gave evidence of real artistry.

Encores graciously performed included Amy Worth's "Little Lamb" and Sandor Hormati's "La Sacre Coeur de Notre Dame".

Miss Fino was ably accompanied at the piano by Miss Jean Robertson, whose sympathetic and musically accompaniments greatly enhanced the effectiveness of the young artist's performance.

A guest artist, Richard Carballada, violinist, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Carballada, of Buffalo played two movements of a Beethoven Sonata and encored with the "Andante" from Bach's Sonata in A Minor. Mr. Carballada is also a pupil at the Community Music School, and studies with Miss Dorothy Hebb, who is head of the violin department as well as director of the school.

Miss Grace Lester, of Buffalo, accompanied Mr. Carballada, whose playing was deeply moving. His interpretations were unusually profound for one so young, his tone quality being such as to bring real pleasure to an especially musical audience.

Three Warren Women Recall Commencement of 1884

HIGH SCHOOL CLASS OF 66 YEARS AGO

B. Miller, Cora Jacobs. Lower row, left to right: Elbridge Pierce, Carolyn L. Jacobs, Myrtle Waters, Dan O'Hearn, Emma Bisecker.

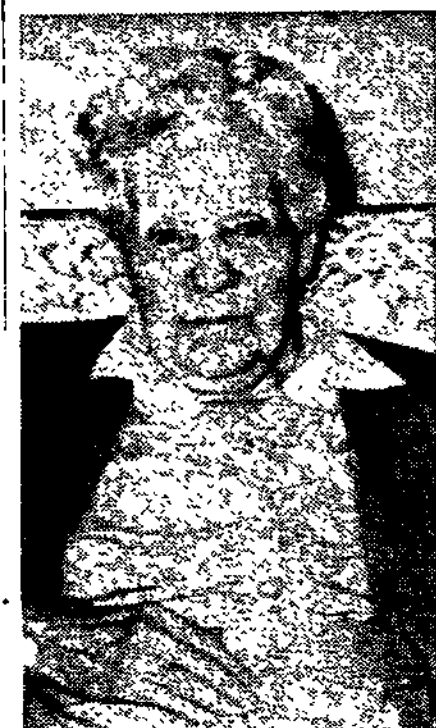

News of commencement activities of the Senior class of the high school is being followed closely and with much interest by three members of the class of 1884, who are still residing in Warren and enjoying fairly good health despite the fact that they were among those who received diplomas 66 years ago.

These three women who are doubtless the oldest graduates of the Blue and White are Miss Fannie M. Smith, a guest at the Watson Memorial Home, Miss Cora Jacobs, who resides at the Keystone Nursing Home, and Mrs. Hattie R. King, 336 Hickory street, this city.

The 1883-84 term of the "Warren Union School," closed just 66 years ago this evening. Mention of the program was made in the Weekly Ledger of June 6, 1884, as follows:

"The spring term of the Warren Union School closed last week. It

We have no room for the program, and it gives no idea of the varied performances for like a beautiful woman, it must be seen to be appreciated. Description will not answer. Through the courtesy of Chester S. Allen, of the West Penn Oil Company, we are privileged to print the above picture of the class of 1884, that has been in possession of Mr. Allen, along with a large number of local photos of historical interest for many years. Mr. Allen is a nephew of Miss Jacobs.

Self-Criticism Can Be Risky—Someone May Believe You

JANE would be fighting mad if any one of her friends went around running her down. Yet Jane runs herself down all the time.

All you have to do is say "Hello, Jane" to hear how terrible she looks, or find out the latest jam she has gotten herself into, or to have her give you some other evidence that she just can't cope with all her problems.

Pay Jane a compliment and she'll talk you out of it. Try to get her interested in some activity and she'll convince you that she hasn't any talent for that sort of thing.

You probably know at least one Jane. If, by any chance you should happen to be one yourself, it may be that you don't realize what you are doing.

When you sell yourself short, run yourself down, and generally give the impression that you are less than you are—you are doing something that you would hate another person for doing to you.

NOT PICTURING SELF TRUTHFULLY

YOU are deliberately giving the world a false picture of what you are. You are covering up your talents and abilities and calling attention to your shortcomings and faults.

And don't think that your down-at-the-heels attitude doesn't have any effect on others. They may argue with you a little when you make some disparaging remark about yourself—but the remark will stick. And pretty soon you will have sold the idea that you really are pretty much of a second-rater.

It's always a good idea when you start to make some disparaging remark about yourself to think, "Would I like it if one of my friends said that about me?"

If you wouldn't—then don't say it about yourself.

It was around 1900 when the present hospital was started on the south side. Asked about her age she remarked smilingly "I am both proud and thankful that I am as well as I am considering the fact that I will be 85 years old if I live until July 18th."

Miss Jacobs, interviewed at the Keystone Nursing Home, spoke feelingly of the graduation of 66 years ago. She asked about her friend, Miss Smith, and reminded that another member of the class is Hattie King, Hickory street. Miss Jacobs was 86 years of age the 13th of this month.

Mrs. King was having a chat with her old friend and companion, Mrs. Clarel Pressel, Conewango Place, this city, when visited by

LADIES UNION
Fourteen members of the Irvine Presbyterian Ladies Union and two guests were entertained at the home of Mrs. Jessie Lightner for the regular meeting of the group. Devotions were led by the president, Mrs. Carl Munson, who also reviewed a chapter of the book "The Art of Living" by Dr. Norman Peale, in explanation of the evening's topic, "How To Have Peace of Mind." A humorous poem by Miss Theresa Nelson illustrated how nature can help to calm our minds and spirits.

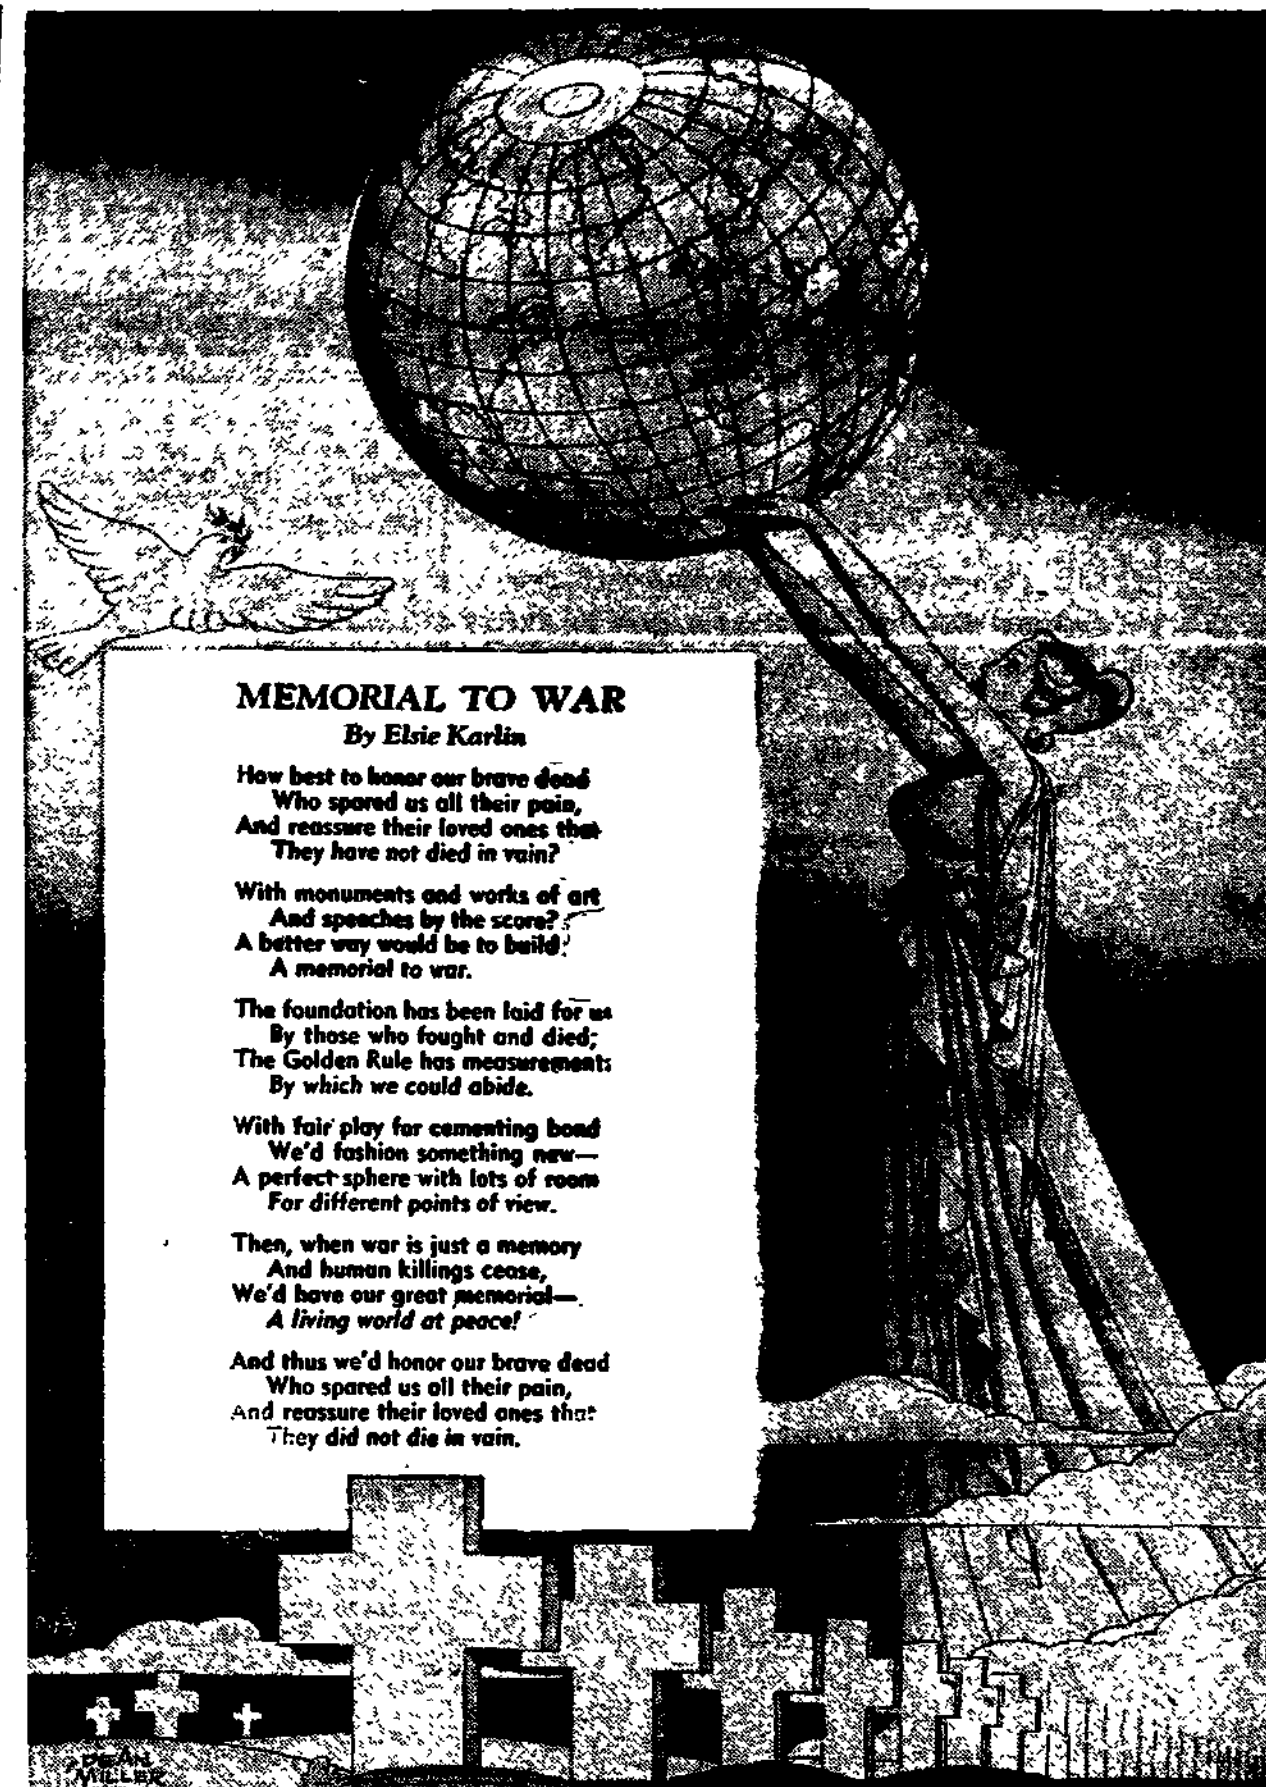

For the social hour, the hostess served refreshments from a dining table attractively centered with an African violet and lighted green candles, and a smaller table centered with rosebuds and lighted candles. Mrs. Lightner was present with a farewell gift from the group.

The June 15 meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Ernest Oviatt.

Post Commander Arnold gave a report on the Poppy Days and reminded members of the visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile, June 14, urging all able to do so sign up as donors. Announcement was also made of the banquet given yesterday in Oil City to honor the department president, Beatrice Sisco. Plans were discussed for a vanilla sale, also for a series of games parties to begin Saturday, June 3.

MEMORIAL TO WAR

By Elsie Karlin

How best to honor our brave dead
Who spared us all their pain,
And reassure their loved ones that
They have not died in vain?

With monuments and works of art
And speeches by the score?
A better way would be to build
A memorial to war.

The foundation has been laid for us
By those who fought and died;
The Golden Rule has measurement:
By which we could abide.

With fair play for cementing bond
We'd fashion something new—
A perfect sphere with lots of room
For different points of view.

Then, when war is just a memory
And human killings cease,
We'd have our great memorial—
A living world at peace!

And thus we'd honor our brave dead
Who spared us all their pain,
And reassure their loved ones that
They did not die in vain.

Emilie Andersen Becomes the Bride Of Calvin C. Rossman in Nazarene Church

Palms, with baskets of white glads and snapdragons were arranged in an attractive setting in the Church of the Nazarene at 2:30 p. m. Saturday, when Emilie Andersen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonhart Andersen, 110 Grant street, became the bride of Calvin C. Rossman, son of Mrs. Gertrude Rossman, 225 Liberty street.

The Rev. Gordon V. Woods performed the ceremony and Gladys Judd was at the organ for traditional airs and as accompanist for Gordon Odmarr, who sang "Because," "I Love You Truly," "The Lord's Prayer."

Gowned in white satin, the bride was given in marriage by her father and attended by her sister, Lynne, as maid of honor; Jean Andersen and Nancy Brooker, bridesmaids.

The bride's gown was styled with fitted bodice, buttoned down the back, long sleeves and train. Rows of lace trimmed the front and heirloom lace fashioned her bonnet, from which fell her fingertip veil of nylon net.

The maid of honor wore orchid, the bridesmaids were in light green and yellow, their frocks of dotted swiss styled with fitted bodices and full skirts. Each had a matching cap and mitts and spring flower corsages.

John Seymour was best man for his brother-in-law, and ushers were Ronald and Kresten Andersen, twin brothers of the bride. The reception was held from three until five o'clock at the YVCA, with a guest list of 150 including relatives and friends from Buffalo, Jamestown and Erie. The all-white bride's table was set with wedding cake, center arrangement of roses and other flowers and silver holders for the tapers.

For an eastern wedding trip, the bride chose a yellow suit, luggage tan accessories, and had a pink rose corsage. Upon their return they will make their home at 224 North Carver street.

The bride is a graduate of Warren High and has been employed at the Newell Press. Honoring her with pre-nuptial functions have been Mrs. Gertrude Rossman and Mrs. Charlotte Rossman, Mrs. John Seymour and Mrs. Roger McFarland.

The bridegroom attended the local high school, served three years with the armed forces, and is employed by the Times Square Service Station.

MENU SUGGESTIONS

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

WITH a husband who works as a spot welder during the day and as a gas station attendant during the evening, Dorothy Koch has discovered that her big responsibility is to get meals on time. A 1949 bride of Minneapolis, Minn., she has breakfast ready just at the right minute. If she doesn't her husband feels that he hasn't time to wait for her to fix it, so he goes without any.

This 1949 Minneapolis bride has more advice for 1950 brides. When it comes to saving those precious minutes in the morning, she says: It pays to have a handy breakfast shelf for the foods you usually serve at this meal. There you can keep canned fruit juices, boxes of breakfast cereal, coffee, cocoa, packaged mixes for hot breads, and any other foods served at breakfast.

For planning variety in the first meal of the day, an assortment of cereals is a must. Albert Koch's cereal favorites are wheat flakes and farina, but Dorothy keeps an assortment on hand so there'll be no dull menus at their house. Besides the main dish of cereal and milk, the Kochs generally have fruit, toast and cocoa for breakfast.

Week-ends sometimes call for an extra-special dish at breakfast. On these occasions Dorothy Koch saves time by using packaged mixes for biscuits or waffles. Another favorite is griddle cakes made with cereal flakes and applesauce.

Apple Flake Griddle Cakes
(4 to 6 servings)
One cup sifted all-purpose flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1 egg, beaten, 1½ cups milk, 1 cup bran flakes or wheat flakes 3 tablespoons melted fat, 1 cup thick applesauce.

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Combine egg and milk; add to the dry ingredients, beating only until smooth. Slightly crush bran flakes or wheat flakes and fold them in. Add fat. Drop by large spoonfuls on a lightly greased griddle. Turn to brown on both sides. Spread each cake as soon as baked with applesauce, keeping hot in oven. Fill cakes in a stack. Serve hot with syrup.

SUNDAY'S MENU
BREAKFAST: Cantaloupe with blueberries, ready-to-eat cereal, apple griddle cakes, butter or fortified margarine, honey or syrup, coffee, milk.
DINNER: Roast turkey, giblet gravy, cranberry-cucumber jelly, soufflé of potatoes in casserole, green peas with baby onions, assorted rolls, butter or fortified margarine, watercress salad, strawberry ice cream, coffee, milk.

SUPPER: Cold sliced turkey, currant jelly, hot biscuits, butter or fortified margarine, cabbage-pineapple salad with sour cream dressing, orange cake, tea, milk.

Memorial Service At Youngsville Largely Attended

A large attendance featured the memorial services held at 4 p. yesterday in the State Theater Youngsville, with Rev. William Chamberlain, vicar of St. Francis Episcopal church, officiating and Rev. C. J. Franzen, pastor Saron Lutheran church, assisting. Members of Halgren-Wilcox Post American Legion, and its Auxiliary, together with Gold Star Mothers, occupied the center section of the theater.

The audience opened the service with the singing of "The Spangled Banner," followed the responsive reading of the 24th Psalm and a scripture reading by Rev. Franzen.

Rev. Chamberlain then conducted prayers for the departed, reading the names of the nine World War I veterans and the 22 World War II veterans who died in service of their country. In address, Rev. Chamberlain pointed out that while United States has won its blood battles, it lost spiritual battle following World War I and is in danger of doing the same thing now.

The offering, totalling almost $100, was presented by Rev. Chamberlain to the Halgren-Wilcox Post toward the establishment of a permanent War Memorial at Youngsville. Donald Aberg, Miss Lillian Swanson at the piano sang as the offertory solo, "T. Holy City."

Rev. Franzen pronounced benediction to close the service. Members of the Legion Auxiliary and invited guests enjoyed a buffet supper at the Legion Home following the service.

Red carnations were arranged on the altar and palms made an effective setting for the vows. Mrs. Paul Jacobson, organist, played additional wedding marches and accompaniments for Lillian Risman, whose numbers were "The Lord's Prayer," "Bless This House" and "O Perfect Love."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a fitted model of white slipper satin, with full skirt trimmed in a train. Tiny buttons adorned the back of the bodice, a lace collar fell in folds about the neck, and long, fitted sleeves ended in points over the hands. Betty Himes, bridesmaid, wore a light tulle gown, with full skirt brought up to reveal a lilac petticoat. The fitted bodice was shirred at the bustline, had a square neck and short, puffed sleeves.

Fine Suggests That Owlett Resign Post

Harrisburg, May 29—(P)—John S. Fine, Republican nominee for governor, raised the question today as to whether G. Mason Owlett should retain his post as Republican national committeeman for Pennsylvania.

Fine, before leaving on a 10-day vacation at an undisclosed place, suggested in an interview with the Philadelphia Inquirer last night that Owlett should remove himself as national committeeman because he was on the losing side in the recent primary fight.

Owlett, a top aide to former U. S. Senator Joseph R. Grundy, backed U. S. Rep. John C. Kunkel for the GOP nomination for U. S. Senator, and Jay Cooke for governor at the May 16 primary.

Gov. James H. Duff won the senatorial nomination, with Fine as his running mate for governor. During the campaign both Duff and Fine attacked what they called "Grundy-Owlettism" in the party.

The Republican state committee will meet June 10 to organize for the fall campaign, but the national committee post will not be up for consideration, since those members are selected for four year terms by Pennsylvania's delegation to the Republican National Convention.

Chairman Francis A. O'Neill, Jr., of the National Mediation Board announced the cancellation of the strike over the week-end.

CAUTIOUS DUCK PLAY CINCHES A CONTRACT

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"I don't really enjoy looking at the gloomy side of life," said Pessimistic Pete. "I just like to be careful."

"I'll bet you look at the bottom of a sandwich as well as the top before you bite into it," remarked one of his opponents bitterly. He had good reason to be annoyed, since Pessimistic Pete had just made a contract by super-cautious play.

West opened the deuce of diamonds, dummy played low, and East won with the king. South won the diamond return with the queen, and led a low club from his hand.

It was routine play to duck this first club, allowing East to win the trick. Pete hoped to develop at least one low-card trick in clubs, and the ducking play was the best way to do so while still keeping entries to the dummy.

East returned his remaining diamond, and dummy won with the ace. It was at this point that Pete made his super-cautious play. He led another low club from the dummy!

This play would be unnecessary two times out of three, since the clubs would normally split 3-2.

However, this play assured the contract against the actual 4-1 club split.

West could take his remaining diamond, the fourth trick for the defenders. Any return, however, was sure to give declarer the rest of the tricks. Dummy's last low club was bound to produce the ninth trick.

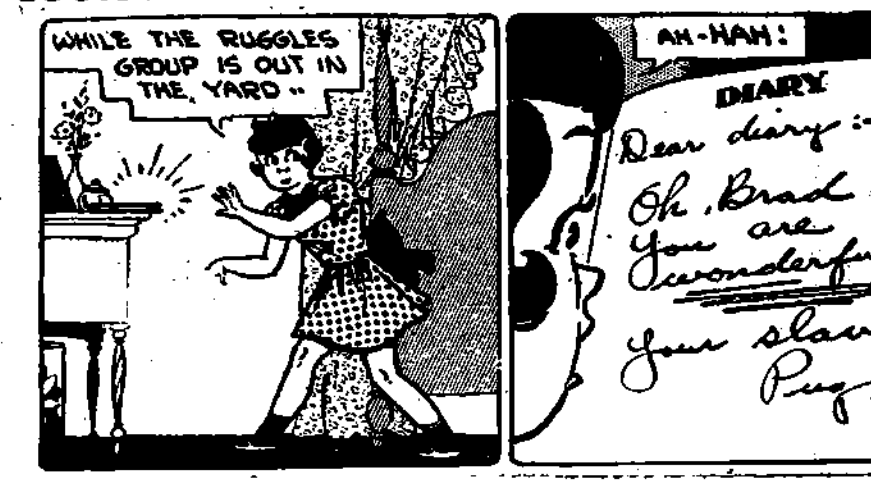

It is instructive to see that if Pete had tried to take the second round of clubs with a high card, he would win only the two top clubs.

Pete would not have played the hand in this way if he had needed ten tricks. In that case he would have ducked only one round of clubs, hoping for a normal break in that suit. Since he needed only nine tricks, however, he took no chances. The "duck" was the sure-fire play.

Crary Cup Tourney Is Holiday Feature At Conewango Club

Mixed teams of men and women golfers will tee off in the Memorial Day tournament at the Conewango Valley Country Club tomorrow, with the winning pair earning a place on the Horace Crary Cup. Each also will receive a small replica of the cup.

It will be a mixed two-ball foursome tourney with handicaps. Last year it was won by Marie Hamilton and Tim Creal.

The men's golf team has scheduled two more matches, a home and home series with the strong Titusville club. They also play Wanango.

Winners of last week's Screwball tourney included: High score, Wesley Ensworth; most aces, Harold Banghart; most in the rough, Dick Meacham; high on hole three, Allen Gibson; birdie on one, Chuck Blackman; most putts, Bob Alexander; high on eight, Dr. Folmer Yerg; most double bogies, Bill Lundahl; most aces, Walter Dremann; even bogies Nummy Lundahl, and failure to turn in a score, Claude Schindler.

N. F. O. Baseballers Schedule a Holiday Game at Hospital

A clash between the National Forge baseballers and the St. Marys Oilers will highlight the Warren area's sports program for Memorial Day.

The tilt is scheduled for tomorrow afternoon, starting at 2:30 o'clock, on the tState Hospital field. The Forge nine was handed its first defeat of the 1950 season at the Hospital field Saturday afternoon when the Jamestown Bombers racked up an 11-3 triumph.

It was a case of too much experience for the New Yorkers against the young Forge nine. But the N. F. O.'s 1950 edition is showing plenty of promise and a few more games under their belts will give them a lot of needed confidence to go with their hustle.

J. Bender for the Bombers and Gnags for the Forge clouted home runs. Rosequist had a triple for the Forge, while two-base wallops were credited to Vesling and Petrowski for the N. F. O. and Pratt and Fredo (2) for Jamestown.

Dean Whittaker and Gray shared mound duty for the Forge, while J. Bender went the full distance for the winners.

Score by innings:
Bombers...101 280 100—11 14 0
Forge...002 000 001—3 9 5

Slammin' Sam Much Better Than His Record—Sarazen

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Gene Sarazen calls Sam Snead the greatest hitter of the ball since Bobby Jones. "Were Sam gifted with Jones' command of himself, he might well have equaled Bob's record," says Sarazen, in his illuminating book, "Thirty Years of Championship Golf."

"He is at least five major tournaments better than his record," Sarazen points out that Snead has smoothed up enormously since he came out of the mountains of western Virginia in 1937 to revive the waning interest in tournament golf almost single-handed.

The winner of them all assures you, however, that there is no cause to fear that the incredible hillbilly will ever lose his unique charm or deny us further wonderful Sneadisms, the Goldwynisms of golf.

In the days when the term "golf clinic" was first being used," writes Sarazen, "I asked Sam one time to get a burry on or he'd be late for the clinic that they were going to hold by the 18th green."

"Ah'm perfectly well, Gene," drawled Sam. "An' even if I was sick, you wouldn't catch me goin' to any ol' clinic. Ah've got a personal doctor."

"SUCCESS has never altered Snead's devotion to thrift. When I met him at an exhibition in Harrisburg, Pa., last summer after he had won three straight tournaments, I began to kid Sam that he'd better begin spending his millions right away because there was rumor going around that the government was thinking of devaluing the dollar 50 per cent."

"What do you mean, devalue?" Sam asked, with a worried frown. I explained that what it worked down to was that the government would take a pair of scissors and cut every dollar bill in half.

"Why, that ain't bad at all!" Sam said, cocking his head in relief. "That gives me two for one."

"I asked Sam to describe what he thought of when he was actually playing a shot in a tournament."

"Ah don't bother 'bout no many things," Sam said. "Ah just take that club back slowly and then ah try to bring it right down on the barrel-head."

"The final day of the North and South at Pinehurst in 1948 was played on Election Day."

"As Sam walked off the 18th green, Corcoran told him Dewey was leading."

"What did he go out in?" Sam asked.

Sam Snead not only is the virtuoso of the present field. He is its most lovable and colorful personality.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Joe Smoot is at it again. The old boss player and gambler is peddling stock for his newest venture—a race track at Las Vegas, Nev. Acres of desert have been cleared, it says here. Stables for more than 1000 horses are under construction.

The projected Las Vegas plant has at least one thing in its favor. It has the assurance that Joseph M. Smoot knows a racing site when he sees one.

When it comes to starting big things in racing that he can't finish, Smoot lugs more weight than any handicap champion. He's pounds the best.

Smoot is the old boy with the notion. This took him to Florida during the boom, and the result was Hialeah Park. Next he actually dug a foundation on a tract back of the present site of Santa Anita Park. Thus he was largely responsible for the two most successful winter open air gambling casinos on record.

Smoot was the moving spirit behind Gulfstream Park, up the road a piece from Miami. I'm not sure he didn't have a hand in the building of Tropical Park, out Hialeah way, and Arlington Park, hard by Chicago, the latter along with that other remarkable turf pioneer, H. D. (Curly) Brown.

DOWN through the years the story has been the same. Smoot, originally out of Buffalo and a high-roller in the stock market before the crash, has been many times a bridesmaid but never a bride in modern racing.

With the late Big Bill Dwyer, Smoot did the spade work for Hialeah Park, and was its first president. It was through the efforts of Smoot and Dwyer that pari-mutuel betting was legalized in Florida.

But when Joseph E. Widener took over, Smoot was a negligible stockholder.

Whether the Las Vegas plant will go is a (S)moot question. Nevada's open gambling may not be conducive to profitable racing operation. Why go to the track when you can have your fill of blackjack, craps, roulette, bet on anything from tidly-winks to tick-tack-toe, and in much more comfortable surroundings.

There are the huge horse rooms, too, where the player can have them all going for him at once—Belmont, Garden State, Delaware Park, Arlington Park, Hollywood Park and whatever else happens to be operating at the moment. Why do you suppose racing magnates so violently oppose off-course wagering?

As the Stars and Stripes dips in tribute to those who died, and the bugle blows its mournful "taps", we pause to honor once again the brave sacrifice of those who fought so gallantly to preserve the freedom we hold dear. Let us honor them in the only way they would understand . . . by practicing the democracy they fought to maintain.
